Concept

ioPartecipo+ is an online platform that aims at connecting citizens and regional Public Administrations. It allows citizens, local governments, companies and NGOs to actively contribute to regional policy-making processes; it has been implemented in 2012 with the ultimate goal of stimulating communication between public institutions and citizens.

The squares for participation

Concept

- uploaded to the platform and allocated into virtual squares. Squares are virtual public spaces where projects are presented to stakeholders and where the participatory process takes place.
- Every "virtual square" is dedicated to a participation process for share information, discuss ideas and propose solutions.

Collaboration dimension

 The collaboration aspect is the main feature of the service, which aims at involving citizens in participatory policymaking activities. The collaboration dimension has also been defined by co-design activities during the projecting phase of the platform

Openness dimension

 Defined by the transparent policy-making process enabled by the service; furthermore, data are uploaded and available to everyone for downloading, sharing and comment though related public forums.

Main stakeholders involved

- Local and Regional policy maker
- Citizens and associations
- Emilia-Romagna Region internal employees

Looking at the future

ioPartecipo+ represents an opportunity to talk and listen to the citizens and to create a closer relationship with them. It also aims to support the participation processes and the active involvement of citizens.

BUT

- now there are more usable and effective tools
- therefore through a codesign path we are planning our next platform for edemocracy
