

Wainer Lusoli

European Commission Joint Research Center (JRC) – Institute for Prospective Technological Studies (IPTS)

Wainer Lusoli is Scientific Officer at the European Commission JRC, Institute for Prospective Technological Studies. He works on research and policy issues related to the Information Society, mainly eGovernance, digital identity (eID), technological foresight and social computing. He holds a honorary Visiting Research Fellowship at the University of Chester (2008-2011). Currently, he is working on policy aspects of eidentity: regulatory framework, economics of identity and behavioural aspects (privacy, risks, trust, confidence, behaviours). In addition, he is working on research and policy issues related to Governance 2.0.

References

Wainer Lusoli, Forme di democrazia elettronica, in Pasquino G. (a cura di), Strumenti della democrazia, Bologna, il Mulino, 2007.

